So much is happening in the world of ClaimsTech that we felt it imperative to rush out our next edition. In this latest missive we highlight nifty dashcam options, look again at on line FNOL systems (but with a difference), and delve into the world of drones and their uses.

As ever, please send this newsletter on to your colleagues and contacts, and if you have any queries as to the full range of services we provide our insurer and supplier clients, please contact me at; info@claimstechforum.com or eddie.longworth@jelconsulting.co.uk

IN BRIEF
